Cheaper EV's mean less Teslas on the road

- Tesla is still the top-selling electric vehicle brand in the U.S., but its dominance is eroding as more affordable models proliferate.
- Tesla's market share of new registered electric vehicles in the U.S. stood at 65% through the third quarter, down from 71% last year.

Rebecca was one of our first Good2Go members when we launched back in May. Rebecca grew up in Georgia but moved to Boston in 1999 to study at Berkeley. She is currently a professor of ensemble and piano at The Berkeley College of Music. In her free time, Rebecca practices yoga, goes on hikes, and takes trips around New England.

Rebecca discovered Good2Go while she was out walking in her neighborhood and passed one of our cars. She decided to google us, and the rest is history. Usually, her main mode of transportation is her bike, but sometimes it can't get her where she needs to go. Good2Go cars help her get to performances further away and get her son to his various activities. Rebecca particularly appreciates the accessibility and affordability of Good2Go in her life. This winter, she is looking forward to making apple crisp and staying warm.

Staying Healthy

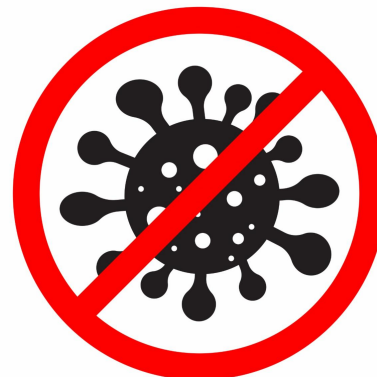

As flu season comes around, let's keep our community safe!

Before and during your trip:

1. If you are feeling sick before a trip, please take a rapid COVID test. If you test positive, the cancellation fee will be waived.
2. When possible, keep the windows down during your trip.

After your trip:

1. Wipe down the car with a Lysol wipe! If the car is running low, email us at info@evgood2go.org.
